Key Rating Weaknesses

Inherent business risks and regulatory risk

The business is exposed to significant challenges such as disease outbreaks in cattle population. Also, the industry is socially and politically sensitive in the country. Factors such as these can impact the availability and processing of buffalo meat. Moreover, as the company earns a major share of its revenue from the export market, the profitability remains exposed to risk of any adverse regulatory development in the importing country.

Highly competitive and fragmented industry

The buffalo meat processing industry is highly fragmented and competitive because of the presence of large organised players and numerous mid-sized players. The competition is further aggravated by exports from other major meat-exporting countries such as Brazil and Australia. This keeps the pricing flexibility of the industry participants in check and limits profitability.

Exposure to foreign exchange risk

RFPL's ~80% revenue generated from export sales to countries like Middle East, Vietnam, Thailand, Hong Kong, etc. Given that most of the revenues are contributed by exports, RFPL is exposed to foreign currency exchange risk on its exports receivables. However, to minimise the risk company enters into derivative contracts to hedge its foreign currency exposure. The unhedged foreign currency exposure as March 31, 2020 is Nil.
